Lava Lamp

Lava lamps were invented in 1964 by Craven Walker. They are made with clear or colored water and a ball of wax in a glass urn. A light bulb inside makes the water glow. A coil warms the wax making it expand and become lighter, slowly rising and stretching into strange amoeba-like shapes. As the wax floats up and collects at the top it begins to cool and condense, gaining weight, then dropping back down to the bottom, starting all over again. The psychedelic colors and hypnotic motions made the lava lamp a major fad in the late 60's.

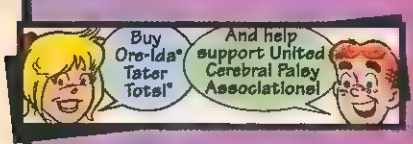
EDITOR'S NOTEBOOK

Dear Archie Readers,

I know I've noted in this column, many times, all the mail we receive. Rest assured, your letters are not ignored. Which brings me to my next subject. ..CHERYL BLOSSOM! What I'm hearing from all this correspondence is that you guys want to see more CHERYL BLOSSOM. Well, next month we start a brand-new 3-issue Cheryl Blossom Mini-Series. In this series, Cheryl's father, who some say is even richer than Mr. Lodge, decides to have his little angel learn the value of a dollar by finding a summer job. The goal is that Cheryl earn a down payment for a nifty, new, very expensive sports car she just MUST have.

Needless to say Cheryl Blossom, with the aid of an employment agency, enters the work force. From working at a day care center to delivering pizzas, Cheryl manages to turn the peaceful town of Riverdale upside down. "What about Archie, Reggie, Jughead, Betty and Veronica?" you say Hey, buy the book and find out.

Have you ever been at a loss as to how to dispose of your bubblegum? Especially before entering school. You could hide it behind your ear, in your pocket (ugh), swallow it (not a smart idea) or keep chewing it and take the risk of being reprimanded by your teacher or principal. Well, in JUGHEAD #82 on sale next month, a new weapon is introduced by Jughead to take worry out of "gum disposal." Credit must go to the New York City Transit Authority whose brilliant idea was the inspiration for "The Gum Target." An extra copy of this issue might put you back in the good graces of your home room teacher Present it to her/him in front of the class. You should have witnesses.



On a more serious note, Archie is now the official spokesperson for UNITED CEREBRAL PALSY. I'm sure you've seen the Public Service Announcements appearing in our books over the last few months. Recently, Archie Comics has joined forces with ORE-IDA TATER TOTS to help raise money for UCP. Look for special packages displaying Archie and his friends. Donations will be made to UCP for every package sold and for every subscription to Archie and/or Betty & Veronica comics ordered. Look for these subscription offers on the back of the Ore-Ida Tater Tot package.
